SECTION 3: LONG-TERM CARE GLOSSARY

Introduction

This section provides generic descriptions of various long-term care options.

Long-Term Care Options

Many long-term care alternatives and services are available for elders. Before choosing what is right for you or a family member, it is important to understand the various levels of care associated in providing such services. Though families often go to great lengths in caring for aged loved ones, they may not be able to provide the best physical and emotional care without experiencing undue emotion, physical, or financial stress. When a person must decide the best alternative arrangement for meeting personal and health care needs, the following options are available:

Glossary

adult care facility (ACF) --- 24 hour supervised living provides assistance with personal care (bathing, dressing, grooming); monitors residents' medications and physical/social needs. Three meals a day are included.

adult day care --- Provides supervised daily programs outside the home, including group and individual activities, nutritional meals, and companionship. Different programs may provide services such as nursing.

assisted living --- Provides an environment that is less restrictive at a more affordable price by combining the services of an adult care facility and licensed home care agency. Services, which may include acute and long-term home care, are based on each individual's health care needs.

enriched living --- Offered to residents who need basic support services such as housekeeping, laundry, meals, etc.

family-type home for adults (FTHA) --- New York certified home providing long-term residential care, including room, board, personal care, and supervision, for one to four adults unrelated to the operator.

home health care --- Services ranging from personal care assistance to nursing services to physical therapy are provided in the home by qualified home health care agencies.

independent living --- Provides apartment living for well elderly. Handicap accessible. Safety devices grab bars, emergency call bells frequently provided. Residents care for self and apartment.

residential care facilities --- Provides room and board. In addition may offer social, recreational and spiritual programs, housekeeping, and emergency response systems.

respite care --- Provides temporary supportive care in a nursing facility or adult care facility for those who normally live in the community, but whose caregivers need relief (also known as short-term schedule care).

skilled nursing facility (SNF) --- Provides intensive medical care, rehabilitative programs, and other specialized services under the supervision of an interdisciplinary care team for chronically ill and disabled elders.

SECTION 4: LEGAL GLOSSARY

Introduction

It is becoming increasingly clear that elderly people have very specific needs. It is also clear that there are some special legal concerns for those who provide care (caregivers) for the elderly. The following is a brief list of some of the terms that elderly people and their caregivers might find useful in working through their special legal needs.

alternative decision-making --- Elderly people are often in need of someone to assist them in making decisions. There are several ways to make another the “legal decision-maker” for oneself, including: a) guardianship, b) representative payeeship, c) durable power of attorney, and d) trust agreements.

durable power of attorney --- A document signed by an individual in which he or she appoints another to serve as his or her agent. This lasts beyond disability or incapacity. A person does not forgo any of his or her legal rights by signing a DPOA. The document can be modified or revoked at any time prior to disability or incapacity. It is a very useful document because it allows the “incapacitated” to make his or her own decisions to the extent possible. It also gives the “incapacitated” person a choice in who will serve as the alternate decision maker. A Durable Power of Attorney can be signed only when one is “competent” to do so. It is very important to consider naming an alternate agent in the event that the first agent predeceases the protected person. The document must be notarized. Two witnesses are recommended as well.

guardianship --- This is the most restrictive form of alternative decision making, requiring a court order. The guardian must report annually to the court. The “ward” (person subject to the guardianship) loses all of his or her rights, and is not considered competent to make decisions. The person requesting the guardianship must prove by clear and convincing evidence that the proposed ward is not competent.

living will --- A document signed by an individual in which he or she expresses what his or her desires are in the event of a terminal illness or irreversible coma. It should be notarized and witnessed, and can be included in a Durable Power of Attorney.

medical durable power of attorney --- Same as a Durable Power of Attorney except specifically designed for medical decision making.

representative payeeship --- A representative payee is a person appointed by the Social Security Administration to handle all of the protected person’s Social Security affairs. In order to be appointed, a person must file an application with the Social Security office and have medical verification that the protected person is not capable of handling his or her own Social Security matters.

springing durable power of attorney --- Same as the durable power of attorney except that it becomes effective upon disability or incapacity. A definition of disability or capacity must be included in the document.

trust --- A legal entity in itself, capable of owning property. A trust is managed by a trustee for the benefit of another (beneficiary). It is possible to be your own trustee. A trust is most often used for estate planning purposes or to protect the assets of another. It is sometimes used by people who want to ensure that they will be cared for in later years. Can be a good estate planning tool; however, can be more costly than a will or probate, depending upon the size of the estate involved.
